

Nashville-area High School and Middle School Educators:

You and your students are invited to . . .

Margot Lee Shetterly

Author of New York Times Best Seller Hidden Figures

Tuesday, February 19, 2019

Engineering Day on Campus

Throughout the morning . . . Math Department Demonstrations

10:30 a.m. Official Check-In at the Fields Engineering Center

11 a.m. Mentoring Lunch in the Bison Cafe

12 to 3 p.m. Rotations between the Engineering Lab, the English department, and Campus Tour/Scavenger Hunt

3 p.m. Snack and Meet the Majors Student Panel

4 p.m. A Conversation with Margot Lee Shetterly, Collins Auditorium

5:15 p.m. Dismissal

The General Public is invited to "An Evening with Hidden Figures featuring Margot Lee Shetterly"
Lipscomb University's Collins Auditorium, Author Talk at 7:30 p.m. with Book Signing to follow.

Please RSVP to secure your participation (<https://www.lipscomb.edu/engineering/event/detail/6976>).

Seating is limited to 750.

Thanks to generous community sponsors, we can offer limited financial assistance to bring your students to campus.

RSVP and Apply by October 15th to receive:

- A classroom set of Hidden Figures paperback books and a DVD
- Lunch in the Bison Cafe for up to 50 students and teachers
- Transportation stipend up to $350 to offset the cost of a chartered school bus. Invoice/receipt required for reimbursement.

Remember: MNPS High School students ride free on the MTA University Connector (Route 21) that terminates on the Lipscomb Campus. See www.nashvillemta.org/maps/route21.pdf

Schools that apply for the sponsored experience will be notified of their award by December 15.

