

Lipscomb at a glance.

Lipscomb University is a premier, private, Christian university located in Nashville, Tennessee. Year after year, the institution earns top rankings for its diverse academic offerings, which encompass more than 145 areas of study and nearly 80 majors. Our challenging curriculum, service learning initiatives, and global learning programs equip students to be leaders in their professions.

Lipscomb University's 113-acre campus is just minutes from downtown Nashville. Music City's surging economy boasts a booming healthcare industry, emerging tech scene, and is a top location for job growth. Lipscomb leverages expansive organizational relationships to connect students to viable internships and competitive employment opportunities.

University Highlights

The Raymond B. Jones College of Engineering and Peugeot Center for Engineering Service to Developing Communities offer students the opportunity to hone their skills with engineering missions. Multiple student teams serve throughout the year with different host partners internationally and create long-term visions for sustainable community development.

Lipscomb's Center for Entrepreneurship in the College of Business serves as an academic hub for entrepreneurship and houses Lipscomb's Business As Mission (BAM) program. BAM aims to leverage the marketplace to create sustainable solutions for the common good of those in need both locally and globally.

Lipscomb's ENGAGE program is a high school youth theology initiative funded by a generous grant from Lilly Endowment Inc. ENGAGE brings together rising high school sophomores, juniors and seniors from racially diverse backgrounds and churches. Students explore the contemporary call to racial justice and healing, the histories of both the church and the U.S. Civil Rights movement, and what it means to live a life of Christian leadership and service.

Lipscomb's Fred D. Gray Institute for Law, Justice & Society views America's legal system from a multidisciplinary perspective to gain a fuller understanding of its mechanisms, practice and consequences. Students majoring in Law, Justice & Society can earn a bachelor's degree and choose a focus in Social Change, Conflict Management, or Law & Ethics.
